Pending before the Court is the Motion to Dismiss, (ECF No. 47), filed by Defendants AP Express Worldwide, LLC, AP Express, LLC, Jeffery Pont, and World Pack USA (collectively “Defendants”).¹ Plaintiff Michael Foley (“Plaintiff”)² filed a Response, (ECF No. 52), and Defendants filed a Reply, (ECF No. 53). Also before the Court is the Report and Recommendation (“R&R”), (ECF No. 49), of United States Magistrate Judge Nancy J. Koppe, which recommends granting Defendants’ Motion to Declare Plaintiff a Vexatious Litigant, (ECF No. 36). Plaintiff filed an Objection, (ECF No. 51), and Defendants filed a Response, (ECF No. 54).³ For the reasons stated herein, the Court accepts and adopts Judge Koppe’s R&R in full. Additionally, the Court grants Defendants’ Motion to Dismiss and Motion to Declare Plaintiff a Vexatious Litigant.

¹ On October 1, 2018, Defendant Michelle Pont filed a Joinder to the Motion to Dismiss. (ECF No. 50). Accordingly, any reference to “Defendants” as used in this Order shall include Defendant Michelle Pont.

² In light of Plaintiff’s pro se status, the Court has liberally construed his filings, holding him to standards less stringent than formal pleadings drafted by attorneys. See Erickson v. Pardus, 551 U.S. 89, 94 (2007).

³ Also before the Court is Plaintiff’s Request for Judicial Notice and/or to Allow Plaintiff to Supplement Response. (ECF No. 55). In the Motion, Plaintiff seeks to add to the record a state court opinion declining to deem Plaintiff a vexatious litigant. (Id.). Defendants did not file an opposition to this request to supplement. Accordingly, the Court grants Plaintiff’s Motion and considers the state court opinion. See Local Rule 7-2.

1 I. BACKGROUND

2 This case arises out of allegations of conspiracy to interfere with Plaintiff's custody over 3 his children. According to Plaintiff, Defendants engaged in a lengthy string of manipulative 4 tactics—including filing fake child abuse allegations against Plaintiff—to deprive Plaintiff of 5 his custodial rights. (See Compl., ECF No. 6). Based on these allegations, Plaintiff filed a 6 Complaint on January 17, 2018, asserting claims for: (1) Conspiracy to Conceal and Deprive 7 Custody of Children from a Parent; (2) Loss of Services; (3) Assault; and (4) Intentional 8 Infliction of Emotional Distress. (Id.).

9 In February 2018, Defendants filed Motions to Dismiss challenging, inter alia, the 10 Court's subject matter jurisdiction over this action. (Motions to Dismiss, ECF Nos. 11, 17). On 11 August 13, 2018, the Court issued an Order granting Defendants' Motions. (Order, ECF No.
12 35). In the Order, the Court found: (1) Plaintiff had failed to sufficiently allege Defendants' 13 citizenship for the purpose of establishing diversity jurisdiction; and (2) Plaintiff had failed to 14 establish the existence of federal question jurisdiction. Based on this finding, the Court granted 15 Plaintiff leave to file an amended complaint and directed Plaintiff to properly plead the 16 citizenship of Defendants.

17 On September 4, 2018, Plaintiff filed an Amended Complaint. (Am. Compl., ECF No.
18 44). Defendants now move to dismiss the Amended Complaint for lack of subject matter 19 jurisdiction.

20 II. LEGAL STANDARD

21 Rule 12(b)(1) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure permits motions to dismiss for 22 lack of subject matter jurisdiction. Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(1). When subject matter jurisdiction is 23 challenged, the burden of proof is placed on the party asserting that jurisdiction exists. Scott v.
24 Breeland, 792 F.2d 925, 927 (9th Cir. 1986) (holding that "[t]he party seeking to invoke the 25 court's jurisdiction bears the burden of establishing that jurisdiction exists"). Accordingly,

1 courts presume lack of subject matter jurisdiction until the plaintiff proves otherwise in 2 response to the motion to dismiss. Kokkonen v. Guardian Life Ins. Co. of Am., 511 U.S. 375, 3 377 (1994).

4 A motion to dismiss under Rule 12(b)(1) may be construed in one of two ways.
5 Thornhill Publ'g Co., Inc. v. Gen. Tel. & Elec. Corp., 594 F.2d 730, 733 (9th Cir. 1979). It 6 may be described as 'facial,' meaning that it attacks the sufficiency of the allegations to support
7 subject matter jurisdiction. Id. Alternatively, it may be described as 'factual,' meaning that it
8 "attack[s] the existence of subject matter jurisdiction in fact." Id. When, as here, a defendant 9 asserts a factual attack, "[t]he plaintiff bears the burden of proving by a preponderance of the 10 evidence that each of the requirements for subject-matter jurisdiction has been met." Leite v.
11 Crane Co., 749 F.3d 1117, 1121 (9th Cir. 2014).

12 "Ordinarily, a case dismissed for lack of subject matter jurisdiction should be dismissed 13 without prejudice so that a plaintiff may reassert his claims in a competent court." Frigard v.
14 United States, 862 F.2d 201, 204 (9th Cir. 1988) (per curiam). However, where there is no way 15 to cure the jurisdictional defect, dismissal with prejudice is proper. See id.

16 III. DISCUSSION

17 1. Motion to Dismiss

18 In the Amended Complaint, Plaintiff alleges that the Court has subject matter 19 jurisdiction pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1332. (Am. Compl. ¶¶ 1–8, ECF No. 44). In order to 20 establish federal jurisdiction under Section 1332, a plaintiff must demonstrate that each 21 defendant is a citizen of a different state than the plaintiff. 28 U.S.C. § 1332(a)(1). With 22 respect to limited liability companies, a plaintiff must allege the citizenship of each member to 23 properly plead diversity. See Johnson v. Colombia Props. Anchorage, LP, 437 F.3d 894, 899
24 (9th Cir. 2006). The party asserting diversity jurisdiction bears the burden of proof. Lew v.
25 Moss, 797 F.2d 747, 749 (9th Cir. 1986).

1 Here, the Court previously dismissed Plaintiff's Complaint for failure to allege the 2 citizenship of both Patricia Foley and World Pack USA. (Order 3:8–18, ECF No. 35). In the 3 Amended Complaint, Plaintiff alleges that Patricia Foley is a citizen of Mexico and Defendant 4 World Pack USA is owned and operated by Jeffrey Pont and Shantal Smith, who are citizens of 5 California. Absent from these allegations, however, is the citizenship of "Augusto Soriano Jr.," 6 who the Nevada Secretary of State lists as a managing member of World Pack USA residing in 7 Las Vegas, Nevada. (See Ex. 1 to First MTD Reply, ECF No. 26). Per the Court's prior Order, 8 any amendment to the Complaint had to allege the citizenship of each member of World Pack
9 USA to satisfy the diversity requirements. See Johnson, 437 F.3d at 899. As Plaintiff has failed 10 to meet this requirement, the Court finds dismissal appropriate on this basis.

11 Even to the extent Plaintiff had alleged World Pack USA's citizenship, the Court finds a 12 legitimate question as to whether Plaintiff has accurately stated the citizenship of Defendant 13 Patricia Foley. In particular, the Court notes that Plaintiff has previously asserted in other 14 lawsuits that Patricia Foley—who was at one point married to Plaintiff in the United States—is 15 a citizen of Nevada. (See Reply 3:4–15, ECF No. 53); (see, e.g., Clark County Compl. at 16 APE000132, Ex. 3 to Appx. I, ECF No. 37-3). In his Response, Plaintiff does not address this 17 issue or any of the other jurisdictional issues raised by Defendants or the Court. (See Resp., 18 ECF No. 52). The Court therefore finds that Plaintiff has consented to the granting of 19 Defendants' Motion as stated in the local rules. See Local Rule 7-2(d). Moreover, by failing to 20 address these issues, the Court finds that Plaintiff has not met his burden of establishing the 21 Court's subject matter jurisdiction over his claims. See Lew, 797 F.2d at 749. Accordingly, the 22 Court dismisses Plaintiff's claims without prejudice.

23 2. Vexatious Status

24 In the R&R, Judge Koppe recommends declaring Plaintiff a vexatious litigant and 25 subjecting his future complaints against Defendants to pre-screening. (R&R 10:13–16, ECF

1 No. 49). A party may file specific written objections to the findings and recommendations of a 2 United States Magistrate Judge made pursuant to Local Rule IB 1–4. 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1)(B); 3 D. Nev. Local R. IB 3-2. Upon the filing of such objections, the Court must make a de novo
4 determination of those portions of the Report to which objections are made. Id. The Court may 5 accept, reject, or modify, in whole or in part, the findings or recommendations made by the 6 Magistrate Judge. 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1); D. Nev. Local R. IB 3-2(b).

7 Here, Plaintiff largely objects to Judge Koppe’s R&R based on his own subjective 8 beliefs regarding both the merits of his underlying conspiracy allegations and the biased nature 9 of his other legal proceedings. In raising these objections, Plaintiff utilizes much of the crude 10 or slanderous language that has become commonplace in his filings. In particular, the Court 11 notes Plaintiff’s liberal use of language like “sexual inadequacy,” “gambling addiction,” 12 “enslavement,” and “evil” behavior when referencing Defendants. Additionally, the Court 13 notes Plaintiff’s repeated allegations of corruption, bias, and mental incapacity against other 14 courts and judges. This type of combative language only serves to highlight the vexatious 15 nature of Plaintiff’s numerous actions. Nonetheless, amidst Plaintiff’s accusations, Plaintiff 16 raises three broad objections to Judge Koppe’s R&R: (1) Judge Koppe relied upon incorrect 17 facts in reaching her conclusion; (2) the Court declaring Plaintiff vexatious violates his First 18 Amendment rights; and (3) Plaintiff has not filed enough cases against Defendants to warrant 19 being declared vexatious. (Objection 7:25–9:25, ECF No. 51). The Court addresses each 20 objection in turn.

21 a) Incorrect Facts

22 Plaintiff argues that Judge Koppe’s R&R incorrectly states the number of cases Plaintiff
23 has filed against Defendants. (Id. 8:1–4). Plaintiff further argues that some of the closed cases 24 cited by Judge Koppe “are still alive and pending further action” or else ripe for appeal. (Id.
25 8:14–16). Contrary to Plaintiff’s assertion, however, Judge Koppe explicitly acknowledges that

1 not all of the cases cited in the R&R involve the Defendants in this case. (See R&R n.1 at 2).
2 Judge Koppe included these additional cases to illustrate “Plaintiff’s use of judicial time, to 3 establish a record of the relevant actions, and to elucidate the common themes and strategies in 4 Plaintiff’s litigation.” (Id.). To the extent Plaintiff objects to the precise number of purported
5 cases he has filed against Defendants, the Court finds this argument immaterial to its vexatious
6 determination. See Ringgold-Lockhart v. Cty. of Los Angeles, 761 F.3d 1057, 1062 (9th Cir.
7 2014) (omitting a precise case quota amongst vexatious litigant factors). Here, Judge Koppe
8 detailed over a dozen of Plaintiff’s other cases in making her vexatious litigant
9 recommendation. The R&R therefore complies with the procedural requirement that the Court 10 “compile an adequate record for appellate review.” Id.

11 b) First Amendment Rights

12 Plaintiff next objects to the R&R on the basis that it disparages his “First Amendment 13 Right to petition the government for redress of his grievances.” (Objection 9:1–2). According 14 to Plaintiff, “[i]f this court forecloses this case, or the plaintiff’s right to sue these malicious and 15 menacing defendants . . . the Ponts will continue in their constant meddling and tortious 16 interference with impunity.” (Id. 9:7–10).

17 Plaintiff is correct that restricting access to the courts is a serious matter which 18 implicates constitutional rights. See De Long v. Hennessey, 912 F.2d 1144, 1147 (9th Cir.
19 1990). Nonetheless, the Ninth Circuit has explicitly acknowledged that “[f]ederal courts can 20 ‘regulate the activities of abusive litigants by imposing carefully tailored restrictions under ...
21 appropriate circumstances.’” Ringgold-Lockhart, 761 F.3d at 1061 (citing De Long, 912 F.2d at 22 1147).

23 Here, the R&R only recommends subjecting Plaintiff to pre-screening of future 24 complaints against Defendants. (R&R 10:14–16). Plaintiff would otherwise retain full access 25

1 to the courts. The Court therefore finds Plaintiff's assertion that a pre-filing restriction would 2 disparage his First Amendment rights unavailing.

3 c) Number of Cases Against Defendants

4 Lastly, Plaintiff argues that he should not be deemed vexatious because he has only filed 5 "a total of two lawsuits against the Ponts." (Objection 9:16–17). Plaintiff does not detail the 6 specific lawsuits he is referencing, but the Court understands Plaintiff to mean the federal cases 7 Foley v. Pont, et al., 11–cv–1769–JCM–VCF and the instant action.⁴ With respect to the 8 former, Plaintiff's claims were dismissed both on the merits and for failure to prosecute.
9 Plaintiff subsequently filed an appeal, which the District Court certified as frivolous and the 10 Ninth Circuit ultimately dismissed.⁵ As for the instant action, although the Court does not 11 reach the merits due to lack of jurisdiction, a cursory glance at the pleadings reveals Plaintiff's 12 allegations to be duplicative of the claims already adjudicated in the prior lawsuit. The Court 13 therefore finds this action consistent with the type of frivolous cases discussed in Judge 14 Koppe's R&R.

15 Regardless, Plaintiff's argument ignores that the R&R is based on a multitude of filings 16 against a variety of defendants and not just Jeffery Pont and Michelle Pont. Additionally, the 17 R&R encompasses not only the volume of Plaintiff's cases but also the harassing nature of his 18 filings. (See R&R 9:19–22) ("The Court finds [] that the volume, pattern of harassment in the 19 allegations, continual verbal abuse, lack of merit, and rancorous motivation in [Plaintiff's] 20 filings sufficiently demonstrate Plaintiff's intent to harass the defendants."). As noted in the 21 R&R, virtually all of Plaintiff's lawsuits arise out of a common nucleus of conspiratorial and 22 unfounded allegations directed against Defendants. Plaintiff fails to address the harassing 23

24
25 ⁴ Plaintiff has filed additional lawsuits against Jeffery Pont and Michelle Pont in state court.

⁵ In a pattern consistent with numerous of Plaintiff's other filings, the Ninth Circuit dismissed the appeal for failure to prosecute.

1 nature of his filings in his Objection. The Court therefore finds no basis to depart from Judge
2 Koppe's recommendation.
